Prof J. C. Booth

Dear Sir

I had the pleasure of receiving your letter yesterday and was happy to have an opportunity to serve you. I went to Jersey City for the caps but after measuring all the sizes that the Company had on hand, I found there were none of the dimensions you need. But they expect to have some in a few weeks. I shall always be glad to execute any commissions you may have ^{for me} and am sorry that I was not more successful this time.

Very respectfully
Your friend
